

Cartographies

REVIEWS

Artforum, April 95

Cartographies is a book of essays, maps, and photographs that explores the intersection of geography and art. The book is edited by K. Marriot Jones and features contributions from artists and theorists such as Donald Spivey, Robert Rauschenberg, and John Baldessari. The essays discuss the role of maps in art and the ways in which artists have used cartographic techniques to create new forms of visual communication.
